Administrator Path Branch
Exciting new changes to the Administrative Pathway for Fall 2018

The Administrative Pathway of the FDA has been in existence since 2011 and as stated on the website, “administration in academic medicine offers a broad range of opportunities for physicians as leaders of clinical services, academic programs (Division leaders, Vice-Dean roles, etc.) and health system management. Many members of our faculty rise to leadership in a variety of these administrative roles.”

Our hope is that all members of the FDA, regardless of their branch, will progress to leadership roles and contribute to our larger Duke Health community. We will therefore offer the administrative curriculum to all members of the FDA, (current and alumni) starting in the fall of 2018. This curriculum will include leadership skill development as well as sessions on negotiation and the finances of academic medical centers. We will also facilitate mentoring sessions with members of the FDA and current leaders at Duke.

A RECENT SUCCESS
Three faculty from the Department of Medicine were elected to the Association of American Physicians at the AAP/ASCI/APSA Joint Annual Meeting held April 20-22. Membership in this organization is a distinction recognizing excellence and outstanding achievement.

Adrian Hernandez, MD – Cardiology, Vice Dean for Clinical Research in SoM
Kristin Newby, MD - Cardiology
Kevin Schulman, MD, MBA – General Internal Medicine

Enhancing professional development
We hope that these changes to the administrative pathway will better serve all members of the FDA by preparing them for successful leadership roles in their discipline. Stay tuned for updates that are more detailed in the next few weeks.

Education Scholars Branch

We have resumed the Education Lab meetings to discuss works in progress and to teach each other about education research methodology. The first Education Lab Meeting of the year was a great success with discussion by Drs. McNeill and Zaas on promotion for educators. Please make sure to refer to the links on the Duke AHEAD website for examples of Educators’ Portfolios at https://dukeahead.duke.edu/how-we-can-help/eportfolio-educators.

Additionally, all current and previous Education Branch members should have received a link to a SignUp Genius site to sign up to share your work in progress at a future lab meeting. These lab meetings have a number of purposes, including an opportunity to share and receive feedback about your education research and curriculum development projects, gain collaborators, and share tips for succeeding as an educator in the Department of Medicine. Please be sure to sign up – current education scholars should present during at least one upcoming meeting.
